

Membership FAQs

How do I set up my account?

Accounts are automatically set up for individual members paying through this form. Institutional associates need only to sign up through the same form and validate their free membership by using the email associated with their Institutional Member organization.

How do I access my account?

You may log-in to your account by clicking Member Login on our website and entering the credentials associated with your account. If you are having trouble logging in, please email membership@sid-us.org to reset your password.

How do I edit my account details?

Once logged in, you may edit your account by selecting “View/Edit Profile,” then “Edit Account Information,” and finally, by selecting the “Account” tab on the top righthand side of the page. Here, you may change your password and/or email, upload a profile photo, add a bio, and more. You may also edit mailing preferences by checking or unchecking the desired lists on your account profile.

Is my organization an Institutional Member (IM)?

See the list of our current IMs here.

I’m an employee of an IM, what does that mean for me?

As an employee of a current Institutional Member, you have access to all benefits of membership, including the ability to participate in SID-US events, serve as Co-Chair for a Workgroup, and receive discounted rates on paid programming. All you need to do is fill out this form on our website and click “Institutional Associate” to create an account for yourself. Signing up for an individual account will ensure that your email is registered under a valid membership. Please be sure to use the email associated with your IM.

What is my Institutional Member login?

There is no singular institutional account login information for Institutional Members. In other words, there are no shared accounts. Should you want to register yourself or others for our events, we recommend setting up an individual account with SID-US that will allow you to do so.

How long is my membership valid?

Individual memberships are valid for one year from the date of payment. Institutional memberships align with SID-US's fiscal year and will expire at the end of June 2023 (unless otherwise arranged).

In both cases, renewal reminders will be sent out beforehand.

What are my payment options?

Payment can be processed by card, check, or wire. If paying through this form and you've signed up on our website previously, please be sure to click "Member Renewal."

Institutional Members can pay through this form. Please email membership@sid-us.org for more details.

Where can I see the upcoming events? How do I register?

You may see all our upcoming events here. Depending on the event, registration may be processed through our website, Eventbrite, or by email. In any case, please email events@sid-us.org with any questions.
